

Does Namibia have a sustainable water resource management system?

REPORT: This paper reports on the status of Namibia's IWRM. It looks at how coordinated the country's development is with sustainable water resource management, without compromising the environment.

INFOGRAPHIC: This infographic illustrates the worldwide projection for water scarcity by 2040.

How has Namibia adapted to a more sustainable way of managing resources?

The Tippy-Tapis an example of how Namibia has quickly adapted to a more sustainable way of managing the limited resource. "Water is Life" is a common theme in Namibia's curriculum for school children. Many schools have implemented water saving systems such as water bottles or cups instead of a flowing tap.

What are the environmental impacts of sand mining in Namibia?

Namibia's mining sector is a heavily regulated industry; however, its environmental impacts include permanent scarring of the landscape, intense water usage, high volumes of wastewater and potential contamination of soil and water sources. Due to the boom in the construction industry, there is also a significant increase in sand-mining nationwide.

What can we learn from Namibia's dry climate farmland?

Extensive scientific research aims to develop improved practices and sustainable, value-added products from Namibia's dry climate farmland, such as the charcoal and bush-to-fodder industries, which use encroacher species.

FINANCING FOR SUSTAINABLE LIVELIHOODS Investment in climate resilient agriculture has been one of the focal areas of national government. This has been made possible ...

National Associations The establishment of the Namibia Environmental Education Network (NEEN) was a milestone in the history of environmental education in Namibia. The national network facilitates ...

Training programmes equipped 84 community members with skills in sustainable forestry and business management. The United Nations strengthened Namibia's response to wildlife crime ...

In safeguarding Environmental sustainability, Namibia will pursue just transition by sustainably exploiting its natural resources while taking advantage of new momentum for green ...

Namibia has recently made global headlines by becoming Africa's first carbon-neutral nation, marking a historic milestone in the global effort to combat climate change. This remarkable ...

Namibia's first ISOER made use of the globally recognized Pressure-State-Response (PSR) framework. The 2021 ISOER focuses on environmental indicators drawn from the United ...

The Future Lies in Our Hands: These 3Rs chart a clear path toward a more sustainable Namibia. By embracing these principles, we become catalysts for change, stewards of our ...

Sustainability isn't just an environmental buzzword--it's about finding practical solutions to ensure that Namibia's people and economy thrive without depleting the resources we rely on. The ...

The mission of the Ministry of Environment, Forestry and Tourism is to promote biodiversity conservation in the Namibian environment through the sustainable utilization of natural resources and tourism ...

Environmental Sustainability Namibia demonstrated strong leadership in addressing climate change and promoting sustainable development. The revision of its Nationally Determined ...

Web: <https://williamsandcopaintcontractors.co.za>